Weekly Certification Instructions for Partial Claims

When you have a partial claim (a system filed claim through your employer) the only responsibility you have as a claimant is to do your weekly certifications. Your weekly certification is how you get your benefits each week. If you do not complete your weekly certification you will NOT receive your unemployment benefits for the week. You will be sent an e-mail from the agency each week that contains a link (https://www.jobs4tn.gov/vosnet/ui/weeklycertifications/weeklycertificationsMassLayoffValidation.aspx) which will direct you to the certification. When you click on the link in the e-mail you will be taken to the screens below. Follow the instructions on these pages:

We need to verify that you have an active claim in the system. Please enter the required information below and click next to continue.

Explanation of Weekly Certification Process

Payments for unemployment benefits are based on a seven day period from Sunday through Saturday. To claim benefits for a week of unemployment, you must file a weekly certification. Only by completing a certification each week can you receive an unemployment benefit.

Your weekly benefit claim certifies that for the seven day certification period, you:

1. Were ready, willing and able to work each day
2. Were seeking full time employment as required
3. Have completed your Work Search Verification
4. Did not refuse any job offers or referrals
5. Have reported any employment you had during the week and the gross pay or other payments you received

Your weekly certification should be completed in a timely manner; a delay in filing may result in a delay or denial of your payment.

3 days x 8 hours x 10 dollars = $240

Here is the explanation of the certification and even a short video if you have any wages that you earned during the week. After reading this screen and/or watching the video, click the "Next" button.

Know the Rules — Avoid Overpayments and Don’t Commit Fraud

If you begin work, you must report to the Tennessee Department of Labor and Workforce Development any earnings for the week you start work — even if you have not yet been paid.

The Tennessee Department of Labor and Workforce Development uses various ways and multiple sources to check if someone who gets unemployment benefits is working.

Failure to report your earnings could result in overpayment of benefits, which you will be required to repay. Worse, a determination that you committed fraud could lead to an investigation and criminal charges.

Any unemployment payment you receive that you are not supposed to get is considered an overpayment. The Tennessee Department of Labor and Workforce Development will recoup overpayment balances by deducting the amount from future unemployment payments, or if necessary, by assessing penalties and garnishing any federal and/or state income tax refunds.

If your overpayment is found to be from the result of fraud:
- You will be disqualified for 52 weeks from receiving unemployment benefits.
- You will be referred for legal action, such as investigation and/or prosecution.
- Liens will be assessed.
- Your federal and/or state income tax refunds will be garnished.

Eligibility Review Questions

Employers including temporary agencies and staff companies report earned wages to the Agency every week. Your failure to report wages during this certification will lead to an overpayment. If you are a member of the National Guard in any other state than Tennessee, you must report your weekend Guard earnings.

During the week beginning Sunday, November 19, 2017 and ending Saturday, November 25, 2017:

* Did you work or earn money? ○ Yes ○ No

* Did you begin receiving a veteran’s administration allowance, an employer pension or any other pension (excluding Social Security benefits) during this week? ○ Yes ○ No

* Were you able and available to work each day? ○ Yes ○ No

* Did you receive or apply for workers' compensation during this week? ○ Yes ○ No

* Did you receive Vacation/Holiday/Birthday pay during this week? ○ Yes ○ No
The next screen is a review screen showing your answers to the review questions on the previous page. If you need to make any changes to your answers click the “Change Eligibility Review Answers” link. Also on this page is a summary of your employer job contacts. Since you are a Partial Claims filer your job search is deferred (meaning you aren’t required to do job searches). The job search list will say “Deferred” in all three lines. You will need to click on the “Unemployment Compensation Fraud Information” link and read the information. After reading click the checkbox stating that you have read and understand the information you just read, then click “Next”.
